Danish Refugee Council
Rural Damascus, Syria

RE: Protection Monitoring Assistant (Re-advertised) — Job ID 176474

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am applying for the Protection Monitoring Assistant position with the Danish Refugee Council in Rural Damascus. My background combines education, school supervision, technical support, and participation in UNDP-supported community initiatives. These experiences have strengthened my ability to communicate respectfully, organize multiple responsibilities, solve problems, and support people with patience and professionalism.

Through my work as an English teacher, tutor, and supervisor, I have learned to listen carefully, adapt communication to different needs, maintain structured schedules and records, and work constructively with students and colleagues. My technical-support role has further developed my attention to detail, clear explanation, follow-up, and coordination when an issue requires additional support. As a native Arabic speaker with excellent English, I can communicate effectively with community members and colleagues in both languages.

I understand that protection monitoring requires sensitivity, confidentiality, accurate information handling, non-discrimination, and consistent respect for the dignity and safety of affected people. I am motivated to build on my transferable experience through DRC training and supervision, particularly in the Protection Analytical Framework, Protection Information Management, KoBo-based data collection, safe referrals, service mapping, and psychological first aid. I am also prepared to support field visits, community engagement, work planning, reporting, and team coordination across Rural Damascus.

DRC's values of humanity, respect, independence and neutrality, participation, honesty, and transparency strongly resonate with me. I would bring a collaborative attitude, willingness to learn, careful follow-through, and a genuine commitment to supporting people affected by conflict. My approach also aligns with DRC's core competencies: striving for excellence, collaborating, taking responsibility, communicating openly, and demonstrating integrity.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my communication skills, community-focused experience, and motivation to develop in humanitarian protection can contribute to DRC's work in Rural Damascus.

Sincerely,
Leen Alhamami
